friedrich list is the father of economic nationalism and the historical school of economics responding to adam smith s free market apologetics in the national system of political economy list provides a theoretical basis for state intervention in the economy but he does much more than this as part of a wider trend in european thought list affirms the primacy of history in developing our worldview the national system of political economy does not begin with theory but with history in so doing list shows that england s rise as a commercial power was not facilitated by free markets but by protectionism drawing his theory from historical fact rather than the other way around list's avowed liberalism is overshadowed by his illiberal priors and so the economic history of the 20th century was one of listian principles being put to use by illiberal regimes such as Russia, China and Germany his thought also governed the economic policy of another developmental state for over a century America. Smith and Marx formed the basis of 20th century economic theory but Friedrich List stands as a colossus astride the 20th century forming the basis of economic practice for all major powers until mid century in his introduction to this edition Francis O. Beirne shows that the great economic clash has never been between capitalism and socialism but between capitalism and nationalism with Marxism a revolutionary force but an economic irrelevancy.

economist Henry George 1839-1897 was at the height of his popularity in the 1880s and 1890s considered the third most famous American behind Mark Twain and Thomas Edison and his liberal philosophies on taxation, copyrights, poverty issues and more continue to influence progressive movements today this is George's grand overview of the science and philosophy of economics from the largest question what do we mean by civilization to the most specific what is the difference between money and wealth a replica of a manuscript written in the 1890s and unpublished at the author's death this remains a vital resource for anyone wishing to understand economics from a financial, legal and even moral perspective also from Cosimo George's progress and poverty the condition of labor a perplexed philosopher protection or free trade and social problems

if we wish to remain true to the laws of logic and of the nature of things we must set the economy of individuals against the economy of societies and discriminate in respect to the latter between true political or national economy and cosmopolitan economy which originates in the assumption that all nations of the earth form but one society living in a perpetual state of peace from chapter 11 political and cosmopolitical economy one of the most prominent economic philosophers of the 19th century on a par with but espousing quite different thinking than Karl Marx and Adam Smith explores in the three volume national system of political economy a reasoned doctrine of national and pan national management of trade a global collaboration between government and business in volume 2 he delineates his theory of supportive interconnectedness discussing everything from the value of the individual's ability to produce wealth to the edge established businesses have over new ones a close reading of this 1841 classic is an absolute necessity for anyone who hopes to understand world economic history of the last 150 years German economist and journalist Friedrich List 1789-1846 served as professor of administration and politics at the University of Tübingen but was later jailed and later exiled to America for his political views his is also the author of outlines of American political economy 1827
