the aim of this monograph is to understand the extent to which the landscape of roman berytus and the bekaa valley is a product of colonial transformation following the foundation of colonia iulia augusta felix berytus in 15 bce the book explores the changes observed in the cities of berytus and heliopolis as well as the sites at deir el qalaa niha and hosn niha the work fundamentally challenges the traditional paradigm where baalbek heliopolis is seen as a religious site dating from as early as the bronze age and associated with the worship of a semitic or phoenician deity triad and replaces it with a new perspective where religious activity is largely a product of colonial change the history of architectural education in the middle east and north africa explores the varied socio political landscapes within which different architectural programs and schools were established across middle eastern and north african countries it addresses a significant gap in our understanding of the diverse strategies and paths through which architectural pedagogy underwent institutionalization and standardization during nineteenth and twentieth centuries this process of modernization was greatly influenced by rapidly evolving socio economic conditions and the interests of the real estate market concurrently architectural educators and institutions responded to public demands for more inclusive urban environments shaping the social ambitions and expectations of emerging modern cities karim and gharipour present an interconnected and parallel history of these institutions through a series of case studies they argue that architectural pedagogy and its stakeholders didn't solely shape the technical discourse of the building industry instead their activism and advocacy collectively ignited epistemological debates concerning the perception of modern urban society and its direction the ten essays assembled in this volume represent the fruit of fifty years of research and study in the fields of jewish history and world history they show that the jewish people has played a progressive role in world history a role which grew out of the political culture of the habiru mentioned in literally hundreds of cuneiform inscriptions dating from the 2nd millenium bce the habiru formed scattered bands of runaway slaves and other fugitives who maintained themselves on the outskirts of the settled areas of the middle east constituting a social class rather than an extended family they were nonetheless the founders of the ancient jewish nation whose origins are depicted in a legendary form in the hebrew scriptures it was their egalitarian value system which was handed down to posterity by the jewish people in this way there arose a process which has continued unto this day on the one hand the gradual incorporation of progressive jewish values into world culture but on the other hand the relentless persecution of the jewish people by the forces of tyranny and injustice in today s world this process takes the form of the struggle to survive of the democratic state of israel in the face of the united opposition of autocratic forces everywhere written at different times over the course of the past 15 years or so each of the ten essays in this volume addresses a different aspect of this process taken together they cast a bright light on the truth of jewish history and the jewish people
