jews and muslims in the white supremacist conspiratorial imagination explores how jews and muslims are stigmatized and endangered by the same conspiratorial template supremacists imagine that jews and muslims secretly strive to replace white european civilization with an unspeakable tyranny the authors a jew and a muslim analyze the nature of the conspiracism that targets their communities they historicize the supremacist conspiratorial imagination narrating the paranoia on a continuum from modernity to the postmodern they begin with the texts of modernity following them through to the dark areas of the internet and examining their violent denouement in synagogues and mosques the book investigates the classic text the protocols of the elders of zion and neoclassic variations such as qanon it turns to islamophobic responses to 9 11 such as paranoia regarding the muslim brotherhood and the doppelgänger of the protocols namely the project the authors conclude by questioning how ordinary people prompted by paranoia and recognition hunger resort to violence and murder admittedly the authors are not certain certainty is for conspiracists but they may have a piece of the puzzle this book will be of interest to students and scholars of conspiracy theories antisemitism judeophobia islamophobia political science history philosophy psychology sociology and criminology the aim of protests and generations is to problematize the relations between generations and protests in the middle east north africa and the mediterranean most of the work on recent protests insists on the newness of their manifestation but leave unexplored the various links that exist between them and what preceded them mark muhammad ayyash and ratiba hadj moussa eds argue that their articulation relies at once on historical ties and their rejection it is precisely this tension that the chapters of the book address in specifically documenting several case studies that highlight the generating processes by which generations and protests are connected what the production and use of generation brings to scholarly understanding of the protests and the ability to articulate them is one of the major questions this collection addresses contributors are mark muhammad ayyash lorenzo cini Éric gobe ratiba hadj moussa andrea hajek chaymaa hassabo gal levy ilana kaufman sunaina maira mohammad massala matthieu rey gökbörü sarp tanyildiz and stephen luis vilaseca protests and generations is now available in paperback for individual customers donald trump s first term as the 45th president of the united states of america has shocked the world his attitudes towards islam became a key point of contention on the campaign trail and in power trump has continued his war of divisive words and deeds here acclaimed journalist lawrence pintak scrutinizes america s relationship with islam since its foundation casting donald trump as a symptom of decades of misunderstanding and demonization of the islamic world as well as a cause of future tensions pintak shows how and why america s relationship with the world s largest religion has been so fractious damaging and self defeating featuring unique interviews with victims and perpetrators of trump s policies as well as analysis of the media s role in inflaming
