this study explores the relationship between the individual person the self the divine and other people in the writings of the apostle paul and the roman stoic epictetus it does so by examining self involving actions expressed with reflexive pronouns myself yourself etc in various kinds of sentences for example examine yourself and you do not belong to yourself after situating the topic within the fields of linguistics and ancient greek the study then examines the reflexive constructions in epictetus s discourses showing that reflexive texts express fundamental aspects of his ethic of rational self interest in imitation of the indwelling rational deity next the investigation examines the 109 reflexive constructions in paul providing an exegesis of each reflexive text and then synthesizing the results paul s reflexive phrases are essential statements of his theology and ethics expressing an interconnected narrative christology narrative apostolic identity and narrative ethic most importantly the study finds that for epictetus concern for others is a rational means to self realization whereas for paul concern for others is a community ethic grounded in the story of the indwelling christ and is the antithesis of self interest who were the pioneers in science education and what motivated them to do what they did this book is the second volume of an attempt to capture and record some of the answers to these questions either from the pioneers themselves or from those persons who worked most closely with them as with the first volume we have attempted to include as many pioneers as possible but we know that there are still many that are not included in this or the previous volume as we have posed questions rummaged through files and oft neglected books and probed the memories of many individuals we have come to realize our list of true pioneers is ever growing as we consider our list of pioneers we know that there are names on the list that most of us readily recognize we also fully realize that there are names of whom few of us have heard yet who were significant in their roles as mentors or idea development and teaching we continue to be impressed with our science education family tree ever branching out to more individuals and connections the stories in this volume continue to demonstrate how vital this network was in supporting the individual pioneers during their journey in difficult times and continues to be for those of us today in our own enterprise
