this book historicises and analyses the increasing incidence of xenophobia and nativism in africa latin america and the caribbean it examines how xenophobia and nativism impact the political cohesion and social fabric of states and societies in the regions and offers solutions to aid policy formation and implementation rather than utilising an overarching framework individual theory is applied to chapters to analyse the diverse connections between xenophobia and nativism in the regions the book explores the economic nationalistic political social cultural and psychological triggers for xenophobia and nativism and their impact on an increasingly interconnected and interrelated world in addition to the individual and comparative examination of these triggers the book outlines how they can be decreased or altered and argues that pan africanism and the unity of purpose among diverse groups in the western hemisphere is still an ideal to which africa latin america and the caribbean can aspire this book will be of interest to academics in the field of african history african studies caribbean and latin american studies cultural anthropology and comparative sociology
