a collection of papers that introduces the notion of the technosoma techno body into discussions on the representations of the body in classical antiquity by applying the category of the technosoma to the natural body this volume explicitly narrows down the discussion of the technical and the natural to the physiological body in doing so the present collection focuses on body technologies in the specific form of beautification and body enhancement techniques as well as medical and surgical treatments the volume elucidates two main points firstly ancient techno bodies show that the categories of gender and sexuality are at the core of the intersection of the natural and the technical and intersect with notions of race age speciesism class and education and disability secondly the collection argues that new body technologies have in fact a very ancient history that can help to address the challenges of contemporary technological innovation to this end the volume showcases the intersection of natural bodies with technology gender sexuality and reproduction on the one hand techno bodies tend to align with normative ideas about gender and sexuality on the other hand body modification and or enhancement techniques work hand in hand with economic and political power and knowledge thus they often produce techno bodies that are shaped according to individual needs i e according to a certain lifestyle consequently techno bodies threaten to alter traditional ideas of masculinity femininity male and female sexuality and beauty the essays gathered in this volume are devoted to different aspects of the reception of humanism and the renaissance in slavic countries they mark the beginning of a dialogue among scholars of different slavic languages and literatures in search of the ways in which the entire slavic world albeit to varying degrees has participated from the very beginning in european cultural transformations and not simply by sharing some characteristics of the new currents but by building a new identity in harmony with the changes of the time by overcoming the dominant paradigm which sees all cultural manifestations as part of a separate national linguistic literary and artistic canon this volume is intended to be the first step in outlining some ideas and suggestions in view of the creation in the future of an atlas that maps the relevance of humanism and the renaissance in the slavic world
