the joint committee is known as the committees on arms export controls formerly the quadripartite committee the uk strategic export controls annual report 2010 was published as hc 1402 session 2010-12 isbn 9780102973662

this book looks at the traditional answer to the question of man's freedom on earth the answer that holds that for man to be free he needs to be made to become a perpetual subject and dismisses it this work submits that man is not born to be a subject but a free man because it contends that contrary to Rousseau's thoughts man is born in chains and that it is these chains that he must learn to break to be free. It subsequently submits that for man to be able to break his chains he needs to be made to become his true self and shows how to make man become his true self.

The 2013 report of the committees on arms export controls caec scrutinizes the government's arms exports and arms control policies and practices in unprecedented depth and detail. The scrutiny encompasses the government's quarterly information on arms export licences, arms export control legislation and procedures, organisational and operational issues, arms export agreements, arms control agreements, arms export control policies and arms exports to countries of concern. There are over 3,000 government approved export licences worth more than 12 billion for strategic controlled goods going to the foreign and commonwealth office's 27 countries of human rights concern. Five other countries not on the fco's list are also covered including Argentina which is of concern because of its policy towards the Falkland Islands. The committees adhere to their previous recommendation that the government should apply significantly more cautious judgements when considering arms export licence applications for goods to authoritarian regimes which might be used to facilitate internal repression in contravention of the government's stated policy.
