the 2007 manifesto in favour of a littérature monde en français has generated new debates in both francophone and postcolonial studies praised by some for breaking down the hierarchical division between french and francophone literatures the manifesto has been criticized by othersfor recreating that division through an exoticizing vision that continues to privilege the publishing industry of the former colonial metropole does the manifesto signal the advent of a new critical paradigm destined to render obsolescent those of francophone and or postcolonial studies or is it simply a passing fad a glitzy but ephemeral publicity stunt generated and promoted by writers and publishing executives vis a vis whom scholars and critics should maintain a skeptical distance does it offer an all embracing transnational vista leading beyond the confines of postcolonialism orreintroduce an incipient form of neocolonialism even while proclaiming the end of the centre periphery divide in addressing these questions leading scholars of french francophone and postcolonial studies from around the globe help to assess the wider question of the evolving status offrench studies as a transnational field of study amid the challenges of globalization this collection represents the first large scale attempt to discuss the middle eastern mandates as a totality it compares the application and effects of this very specific form of late colonialism from a variety of different disciplinary perspectives including anthropology architecture archival conservation economics history law and sociology it contains analyses at both micro and macro levels including specific instances of revolt or collaboration studies of particular individuals of professional groups and their contributions to nation building comparisons between the various political and cultural policies of the mandatory powers and the formation and practice of le savoir colonial by contemporary ethnographers officials physicians and teachers the volume will be of interest to historians of imperialism and of the twentieth century middle east state power stigmatization and youth resistance culture in the french banlieues uncanny citizenship foregrounds the literary sociological and political structures of urban literature in france it uses postcolonial theory sociology and political philosophy to investigate the modalities surrounding the question of citizenship in a country where citizens of african descent are not only considered a threat to national identity but also caught between inclusion and exclusion by examining the literary sociological and political structures of urban literatures produced after the 2005 riots this book interrogates the questions of citizenship belonging and coexistence in a context where literature from the periphery has become a site where central political power and mainstream french literary canons are contested moreover these productions clearly reveal an unexplored correlation between geo aesthetics and contemporary french national geopolitics ultimately this book is a plea for a serious approach to social formation in postcolonial france in a way that transcends skin color and instead is based on a shared colonial past as well as current social disqualifications
