the routledge introduction to african american literature considers the key literary political historical and intellectual contexts of african american literature from its origins to the present and also provides students with an analysis of the most up to date literary trends and debates in african american literature this accessible and engaging guide covers a variety of essential topics such as vernacular oral and blues traditions in literature slave narratives and their influence the harlem renaissance mid twentieth century black american literature literature of the civil rights and black power era contemporary african american writing key thematic and theoretical debates within the field examining the relationship between the literature and its historical and sociopolitical contexts d quentin miller covers key authors and works as well as less canonical writers and themes including literature and music female authors intersectionality and transnational black writing the degrading environment of the planet is something that touches everyone this 2011 book offers an introductory overview of literary and cultural criticism that concerns environmental crisis in some form both as a way of reading texts and as a theoretical approach to culture more generally ecocriticism is a varied and fast changing set of practices which challenges inherited thinking and practice in the reading of literature and culture this introduction defines what ecocriticism is its methods arguments and concepts and will enable students to look at texts in a wholly new way boxed sections explain key critical terms and contemporary debates in the field with hands on examples and comparisons timothy clark s thoughtful approach makes this an ideal first encounter with environmental readings of literature a book on legal philosophy necessarily focuses attention on law in addition to this focus an introduction to an african legal philosophy focuses attention on philosophy the link between law and philosophy is brought into relief which is done through an african context an attempt is made to spell out what is african about legal philosophy without being cut off of african legal philosophy from non african legal philosophy the book draws attention to the view that a basic component of african legal philosophy consists of an investigation of what it is to be an african and because an african is a human being among other human beings the investigation is about what it is to be a human being ubuntuism is an african derived word that captures this mode of being human moreover because human beings are cultural beings african cultural context guides the investigation inescapably it is claimed that every legal philosophy is embedded in a culture african legal philosophy is not an exception it is deeply rooted in african culture a culture that is today shaped in part by a european colonialist culture one feature that will strike one as one reads the book is that the book approaches african legal philosophy as a means of decolonization of african culture african legal philosophy can accomplish this intelligently and effectively if it is itself decolonized in doing this it contrasts sharply with mainstream western legal philosophy
