noble laureate s y agnon brings together what has always been at the heart of jewish religious consciousness the sinai event the revelation as both memory and continuously renewed experience this volume of essays is concerned with ancient and modern jewish and christian views of the revelation at sinai the theme is highlighted in studies on the dead sea scrolls paul josephus rabbinic literature art and philosophy the contributions demonstrate that sinai as the location of the revelation soon became less significant than the narratives that developed about what happened there those narratives were themselves transformed not least to explain problems regarding the text s plain sense miraculous theophany anthropomorphisms the role of moses and the response of israel were all handled with exegetical skills mustered by each new generation of readers furthermore the content of the revelation especially the covenant was rethought in philosophical political and theological ways this collection of studies is especially useful in showing something of the complexity of how scriptural traditions remain authoritative and lively for those who appeal to them from very different contexts the idea that god reveals himself to human beings is central in judaism christianity and islam but differs in regard of content and conceptualization the first volume of the new series key concepts in interreligious discourses points out similarities and differences of revelation kcid aims to establish an archeology of religious knowledge in order to create a new conceptual platform of mutual understanding among religious communities erratum wenzel maximilian widenka is co
