this book presents twelve papers on the use of languages for specific purposes lps throughout history from antiquity to the present time contributors analyse how lps emerged both in europe and in other parts of the world such as judea north america and china the historical aspect of lps has generally not been studied in depth despite being part of the global understanding of the phenomenon all aspects of professional life are tackled in this book including administration commerce diplomacy medicine legal studies geography sociology mathematics and history this volume will naturally appeal to historians but also to linguists sociologists and anyone interested in languages used in a professional context it offers a better understanding of where lps come from how they emerged and how they tend to become real specialties in the teaching of modern languages in the years leading up to the second world war the world focussed heavily on nazi germany s growing military power but few grasped the true danger of adolf hitler and his regime why appeasement failed argues that the critical insight into hitler s intentions was already available yet largely ignored the author starts by examining the turbulent political climate of the 1930s the tensions with germany and the issues between the french and the british as well as the munich conference and its successes and failures drawing attention to the overlooked warnings in mein kampf and several publications from the 1930s this book reveals that these texts clearly outlined hitler s vision for expansion and conquest long before it became a global reality mein kampf made sinister references to what hitler called defective people namely both mentally and physically handicapped and his racist obsession he dwelled on the party s philosophy propaganda and projected a unified pan germany based on military power evidence that should have sounded alarm bells but was dismissed attention that moves to an outstanding but neglected book published in germany in 1937 written by an australian academic investigating 1936 germany while appreciated by some the findings were dismissed by chamberlain in places this writer s almost prophetic forecasts read almost like a post war analysis of the situation he met most nazi leaders studied the political paramilitary the german army and attended a nuremberg rally having studied german economics he saw for himself the indoctrination of nazism from the schools to hitler youth to young men in the labour service all trained in military discipline he observed that the public mind was controlled and the laws changed to suit nazism had political leaders paid closer attention to these early clues they might have heeded winston churchill s urgent call to rearm why appeasement failed sheds light on the missed opportunities to understand and counter the nazi threat before it was too late
