excerpt from the witnessing church in its relation to church union civil government and temperance reform in its political aspects this book is practically a series of sermons delivered in the pulpit of the third church by the author the subjects are deeply interesting as they are of great importance just now the question of church union is attracting wide attention and promises to be of special public interest for years to come the question of dissent and protest demands just now special attention within the denomination the undermining forces are active and persistent they wish to surrender up the denomination the question of voting for amendments has it is true been determined by synod in the affirmative but to vote is believed by many in the denomination to be a giving up of dissent and protest it appears that some voted for such decision in the interests of liberalism and now demand that the church take a further step moreover the decision puts the denomination in a position so metaphysical that devout christians in sister churches who are able to see a point if there is any declare their inability to understand the hair splitting distinctions upon which the denomination founds its right to separate denominational existence this differs widely from the former position occupied by the church it was clearly seen but not believed the resolution passed by synod is believed to put the church in a wrong light before the world subjects it to some ridicule is made the stepping stone to greater wrongs and should be recalled to say to candidate for membership that there are some votes you can cast and other votes you cannot cast that the one is a recognition of the government while the other is not that he should go and cast the one and hold up his hands and swear before god that he who casts the other is sinning against heaven and against the light would appear to be an invitation to sensible candidates to escape away from such court of god's house as soon as possible furthermore liberalism seems to be in the air old landmarks are being forsaken old doctrines are being repudiated what will please the world seems to be asked everywhere the trend of the christian church is not out into the light the tendency is back toward rome these influences are insidious and treacherous in the midst of all these evils this breaking up this breaking away the voice of our beloved lord should be the more earnestly heeded stand in the way and see and ask for the old paths and walk therein and ye shall find rest for your souls if the following pages shall be of comfort and assistance to one humble servant of god they shall not have been sent in vain and all the glory be to about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
