toni morrison winner of the 1993 nobel prize in literature reads the speech she delivered in stockholm sweden at the nobel prize award ceremony

toni morrison s speech given at the nobel prize ceremony in stockholm in december 1993 is a profound meditation on language and our responsibility towards it she weaves her thoughts around a folk tale which compares language with a fragile bird a living being which can be paralysed or deadened by misuse she attacks the obscuring language of the state the vacuous soundbite language of the media the rigid limiting language of academia and science it is an inspiring and bold statement moving allusive and powerful she was our conscience our seer our truth teller she was a magician with language who understood the power of words oprah winfrey a vital non fiction collection from one of the most celebrated and revered american writers spanning four decades these essays speeches and meditations interrogate the world around us they are concerned with race gender and globalisation the sweep of american history and the current state of politics the duty of the press and the role of the artist throughout mouth full of blood our search for truth moral integrity and expertise is met by toni morrison with controlled anger elegance and literary excellence the collection is structured in three parts and these are heart stoppingly introduced by a prayer for the dead of 9 11 a meditation on martin luther king and a eulogy for james baldwin morrison s nobel lecture on the power of language is accompanied by lectures to amnesty international and the newspaper association of america she speaks to graduating students and visitors to both the Louvre and America's Black Holocaust Museum she revisits the blues, eye, Sula and Beloved reassessing the novels that have become touchstones for generations of readers. Mouth full of blood is a powerful, erudite and essential gathering of ideas that speaks to us all. It celebrates Morrison's extraordinary contribution to the literary world.

In this study of Toni Morrison's writing, Lawrie Balfour explores the idea of freedom through Morrison's novels and nonfiction. Morrison's writing illuminates the meanings of freedom and unfreedom in a democratic society founded on both the defense of liberty and the right to enslavement. Balfour considers how Morrison's writing ignites new ways of being free in the shadow of racial slavery and colonialism.

The Overshadowed Preacher breaks open one of the most important unexamined affirmations of preaching: the presence of the living Christ in the sermon. Jerusha Matsen Neal argues that Mary's conceiving, bearing and naming of Jesus in Luke's nativity account is a potent description of this mystery. Mary's example calls preachers to leave behind the false shadows haunting Christian pulpits and be overshadowed by the Spirit of God. Neal asks gospel proclaimers to own both the limits and the promise of their humanness as God's Spirit-filled servants rather than disappear behind a pulpit prince. Ideal is a preacher's fully embodied witness lived out through Spirit-filled acts of hospitality, dependence and discernment that bears the marks of a fully embodied Christ. This affirmation honors the particularity of preachers in a globally diverse context, challenging a status quo that has historically privileged masculinity and whiteness. It also offers hope to ordinary souls who find themselves daunted by the impossibility of the preaching task. Nothing in the angel's words is impossible with God.

Word frequency plays a prominent role in many scientific and applicational fields. The book presents innovative methods in research and new results important for language and text characterization based on a general theory. Surprising interrelation.

Ethics and Aesthetics in Toni Morrison's Fiction investigates Morrison's aesthetics in terms of narrative's ethical import. Morrison's writing is concerned with ethically debatable issues and it offers a problematic representation of human experiences in African American history. Whilst previous critical studies consider ethics in relation to events in the story, Palladino explores its intersection with aesthetics. Narrativizing the moral law, Morrison's imperative is to relate the past and to find ways to tell what is often unspeakable. The quest for ways to narrate horrific facts is a quest for an aesthetics which includes an appeal to the reader and thus necessarily engages with the ethical. This study foregrounds the equivocal as a key feature of narrative ethics.

It brings together a range of critical approaches: the gothic, monster theory, critical posthumanism, poststructuralism, postcolonialism, feminist theory, fat studies, cyborg theory, including very recent forays into posthumanist, new materialist intersections. It contributes new readings to the critical canon on a wide range of critically acclaimed texts, from Mary Shelley's Frankenstein via Toni Morrison's and Angela Carter's work to Margaret Atwood's Maddaddam trilogy. It explores narrative strategies of resistance against systemic cultural oppression and challenges a number of critical approaches in the process.

Historic freedom fighter and conductor of the Underground Railroad, Harriet Tubman risked her life to ferry enslaved people from America to freedom in Canada. Her legacy instigates and orients this exploration of the history of Black lives and the future of collective struggle in Canada. Harriet's legacies recuperates the significance of tubman s time in canada as more than just an interlude in her american narrative it is a new point from which to think about black diasporic mobilities possibilities and histories through essays and creative works this collection articulates new territory for tubman in relation to the black atlantic archive connecting her legacies of survival freedom and cultural expression within a transnational framework contributors take up the question of legacy in ways that remap discourses of genealogy and belonging positioning tubman as an important part of today s freedom struggles integrating scholarship with creative and curatorial practices the volume expands conversations about culture and expression in african canadian life across art literature performance politics and public pedagogy considering questions of culture community and futures harriet s legacies explores what happened in the wake of tubman s legacy and situates canada as a key part of that dialogue a biographical bibliographical guide to the writers who have received the nobel prize in literature provides entries for each nobel prize laureate entries also include the nobel prize in literature presentation speech for the corresponding year and the banquet speech given by the nobel prize laureate provides classroom approaches and pedagogical suggestions for teaching morrison s novels in ways which promote critical thinking of issues such as whiteness and critical race theory this engaging collection of professional and student essays is arranged thematically and contains alternate tables of contents for rhetorical modes argument and writing about the disciplines no matter what approach instructors take in their composition courses this flexible and substantial reader will answer their teaching needs by affirming the relativity of the american historical imagination political theorist michael j shapiro offers a powerful polemic against ethnocentric interpretations of american culture and politics deforming american political thought analyzes issues that range from the nature of thomas jefferson s vision of an egalitarian nation to the persistence of racial inequality shapiro demonstrates how history architecture film music literature and art are valuable resources that help us comprehend several viewpoints of american political thought from the founding to the present exploring such diverse works as slave narratives contemporary films genre fiction and blues and jazz music shapiro reveals that there have always been dissenting voices casting doubt on the moral purpose and exceptionalism of the american mind this book will reinvigorate discussions about the essence of american political thought
