this volume is the follow up to understanding confucian philosophy classical and sung ming which presented the first two epochs of confucian philosophy the third epoch presented in this book is that of contemporary neo confucian philosophy it notes a paradigm shift from the late ming to the early ch ing which shows us how the line of sung ming neo confucian philosophy was broken then background information is given to answer the question of how the phoenix was reborn from the ashes at the height of the iconoclast may fourth movement in 1919 liang sou ming the forerunner of the movement developed his ideas about east west cultures and their philosophies during the darkest moments of chinese history three generations of new confucian scholars developed their ideas and achieved great scholarship shu hsien liu presents a framework of four groups to portray the movement and the philosophies of fung yu lan hsiung shih li thome h fang t ang chun i and mou tsung san are reviewed and analyzed the international dimension of the third generation of new confucians is also introduced in the conclusion shu hsien liu comments on the relevance of this trend of thought today with a view toward the future

this volume provides selected translations from the writings of lu xiangshan wang yangming and the platform sutra a work which had profound influence on neo confucian thought each of these three sections is preceded by an introduction that sketches important features of the history biography and philosophy of the author and explores some of the main features and characteristics of his work the range of genres represented letters recorded sayings essays meditations and poetry provide the reader with insights into the philosophical and stylistic themes of this fascinating and influential branch of neo confucian thought the sung neo confucian synthesis is one of the two great formative periods in the history of confucianism shao yung 1011 77 was a key contributor to this synthesis and this study attempts to make understandable the complex and highly theoretical thought of a philosopher who has been for the most part misunderstood for a thousand years it is the first full length study in any language of shao yung s philosophy using an explicit metaphilosophical approach the author examines the implicit and assumed aspects of shao yung s thought and shows how it makes sense to view his philosophy as an explanatory theory shao yung explained all kinds of change and activity in the universe with six fundamental concepts that he applied to three realms of reality subsensorial matter the phenomenal world of human experience and the theoretical realm of symbols the author also analyzes the place of the sage in shao s philosophy not only would the sage restore political and moral unity in society but through his special kind of knowing he also would restore cosmological unity shao s recognition that the perceiver had a critical role in making and shaping reality led to his ideal of the sage as the perfect knower utilizing shao s own device of a moving observational viewpoint the study concludes with an examination of the divergent interpretations of shao s philosophy from the eleventh to the twentieth century because shao took very seriously numerological aspects of chinese thought that are often greatly misunderstood in the west e g the i ching the study is also a very good introduction to the epistemological implications of an important strand of all traditional chinese philosophical thought this is the first book to thoroughly explore confucian and neo confucian metaphysics and ethics building upon the creativity and temporality of human existence and human nature as well as their extension into human culture fundamental essays deal cogently with the relationship between chinese language and chinese philosophy offering general categories which shape the matrix of ideas woven in chinese philosophy from its very beginnings along with more general characterizations there are themes placing confucian thinkers in touch with modern communication theories perceptions of individuals religious themes and scientific worldviews conceptual and comparative essays probe the frontiers of chinese philosophy in its contemporary confucian revival alan t wood examines the cultural identity of modern china in the context of authoritarianism in the chinese political tradition taking on issues of key importance in the understanding of chinese history wood leads readers to a reconsideration of neo confucian thinkers of the northern sung dynasty modern scholars have accused sung neo confucians of advocating a doctrine of unconditional obedience to the ruler of revering the emperor and expelling the barbarian and thereby inhibiting the rise of democracy in china wood refutes this dominant view by arguing that sung neo confucians intended to limit the power of the emperor not enhance it sung political thinkers believed passionately in the existence of a moral cosmos governed by universal laws that transcended the ruler and could be invoked to set limits on his power wood makes a striking comparison of this view with a similar one of universal morality or natural law that developed in late medieval europe by drawing attention to a much neglected confucian text he contributes significantly to the wider dialog of human rights in china and brings forth fresh philosophical insights in his comparative view of chinese and western history
